IIITs — overview & rankings

As of 2026, India has a total of 26 IIITs (Indian Institutes of Information Technology) that participate through JoSAA counselling.

These include:

- 5 older established IIITs (like IIIT Allahabad, IIIT Gwalior, etc.)
- 20 PPP-model IIITs (Public-Private Partnership)
- 1 IIITDM commonly counted separately in some lists

Some sources may show slightly different counts because:

- IIITDM institutes are sometimes separated
- A few newer institutes are counted differently

But for JoSAA 2026 B.Tech counselling, students generally consider 26 IIITs.

GFTIs — Government Funded Technical Institutes

As of 2026, there are approximately 32 GFTIs (Government Funded Technical Institutes) participating in JoSAA counselling in India.

These institutes are funded by either:

- Central Government
- State Government
- Public universities/institutions participating through JoSAA

Some well-known GFTIs include:

- BIT Mesra
- PEC Chandigarh
- Assam University
- Gurukula Kangri Vishwavidyalaya
- IEST Shibpur (often treated separately due to NIT+ status)

The exact count can slightly vary year to year depending on JoSAA participation updates, but for JoSAA 2026, students generally consider 32 GFTIs.

Understanding This Placement Guide

Interpreting approximate branch-wise placement tiers for JoSAA-era institutes. Intended for counselling discussion and preference planning — not a certified salary disclosure or audited placement statement.

Limits of official disclosures

- Many institutes publish overall averages without clean, branch-level splits.
- On-campus, off-campus, and international offers are often blended or selectively highlighted.
- Published brochures may lag the latest graduating batch or omit median and placement-rate detail.
- Discipline labels (for example CSE, ECE, EE) are not always separated consistently across campuses.

How estimates are assembled

For newer IIITs and smaller GFTIs in particular, figures may combine several indirect signals:

- Student and alumni reports
- RTI disclosures, where available
- Official placement brochures or notices
- Public professional profiles
- Counselling-season observations and multi-year trends

What you can usually rely on

- Relative standing — which institutes cluster in stronger versus weaker placement tiers
- Approximate compensation bands (ranges), not point-precision averages
- Which branches historically outperform others at a given institute

Illustrative tier signals only (not guarantees): NIT Tiruchirappalli commonly ranks among the strongest NITs; IIIT Allahabad is widely regarded as a leading IIIT; Punjab Engineering College is frequently grouped with top GFTIs.

What tends to fluctuate each year

- Headline or highest-reported packages
- Precise branch averages
- Published placement percentages
- International and start-up compensation
- How off-campus outcomes are included in averages

Recommended uses

- Drafting and refining preference lists
- Supporting counselling conversations and round strategy
- Comparing institutes at a tier level
- Understanding relative branch strength

Uses to avoid

- Guaranteed salary forecasts or offer expectations
- Substitute for an audited institute placement report
- Sole basis for ROI, loans, or financial commitments

Before you finalize choices

- Latest official placement PDF or portal for each shortlisted institute

- Median compensation and placement rate, where published
- Branch-wise recruiter mix (roles and cohort size)
- Light corroboration via credible alumni or public profiles
